In Memory of John Mentwell

SITUATION WANTED—Middle aged widow, with two children, would like work where there is an opportunity for the children to go to school and help with chores; good housekeeper and hard worker. Mrs. John Mentwell, Adverse City.

John Mentwell was called by death into another world; little did he expect it because the end came after only a brief illness. He always meant to put a few dollars each week into a savings account, but the tomorrow he looked to, to start some good work never came. His poor wife and children are left to face the world as best they can.

A savings account, however, small, is a bulwark against misfortune—an anchor that will hold in time of storm.

Just a wee little dollar will open an account at this bank, and we will pay you three per cent semi-annually for saving your money.

DAILY LETTER

From

SANTA CLAUS

North Pole,
 December 21, 1920.

Harry N. Minas,
 Hammond, Ind.

Dear Harry:

From the tone of your letter, if I didn't know you, I might think you were angry because I hadn't written you before, but you know at this time of the year I have to step right along preparing my sleds and writing a few letters to fellows I know will be glad to help me in my work Christmas Eve.

You know, Harry, in view of the fact that you're not so terribly busy, I'm goin' to ask you not to go to bed Friday night, because I may have to use you down at John Millet's Colonial Sporting Goods Store. You know John now has a complete line of Kimball Pianos, Talking Machines, and everything in sporting goods, and I'm going to have to make his store one of my distributing points, so keep ready to help me out.

Another thing, Harry, you've got a good business head on you, I want you to impress on as many young men and women as possible the importance of starting a Savings Account at the First Trust and Savings Bank, or seeing Hollis C. Hunter, the Insurance Man, about a Life Insurance Contract; either one or both, prepare for the rainy day. Those things are important and I want to see the young folks get started on the right track.

now, Harry, another thing, you might get your Cadillac ready, so that if my reindeers should play out you could load up and finish the job.

Well, take good care of yourself and family—will see you Christmas Eve.

SANTA CLAUS.

P. S.—It has just started snowing again, so sleighing ought to be good for me Christmas Eve.
